TOTAL DEAD LIST NOW 8

TWO ADDITIONAL BODIES WERE TAKEN FROM THE WRECKED CARS TODAY.

THE BAGGAGEMAN AND MESSENGER

J. P. Campbell and W. B. Welsh, Living in St. Louis, the Victims—
Dispatcher and Operator
Are Both Discharged.

The dead bodies of J. P. Campbell, train baggageman, and W. B. Welsh, express messenger, were removed early this morning from the three telescoped cars which figured in the head-end collision between two Missouri Pacific passenger trains five miles west of Lamonte yesterday, making a total of eight people killed in the wreck.

The bodies were extricated at 6 o'clock this morning on a sidetrack, at the new shop grounds. After working all night the task of pulling apart the cars proved fruitless and early this morning the huge steam crane was set to work.

After connecting the iron pulley with the battered cars the crane lifted the broken and splintered mass into the air and separated the three cars. Wedged in between the broken timbers were found the dead bodies of Campbell and Welsh.

Both bodies were badly crushed and mutilated, showing death to have been instantaneous. Efforts to find the body of the news butcher availed naught, and the opinion is now ventured that he escaped from the wreckage.

A man's arm, badly cut up and crushed, was also taken from the debris this morning. It was turned over to Deputy Coroner Powers, of Johnson county, to be buried with the body to which it belongs, that of S. K. English, of Olean, who was killed at the time of the collision.

Campbell and Welsh both resided at St. Louis, and their bodies will be shipped there at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

F. W. Strange, third track train dispatcher on the eastern division of the Missouri Pacific, who was on duty when Missouri Pacific passenger trains Nos. 3 and 12 collided head-on west of Lamonte yesterday morning, and Charles Taylor, night operator for the company at Lamonte, were dismissed from the service of the company by Supt. A. J. Alexander today.

Messrs. Strange and Taylor are held responsible for the wreck, but it is said no criminal prosecution will follow.

Dispatcher Strange had given orders for No. 2 to meet No. 12 at Knobnoster. No. 3 took siding on the west switch at Lamonte and just as soon as No. 10, which precedes No. 12, had passed, No. 3, which had been standing at Lamonte twenty minutes, started towards Knobnoster to meet No. 12, according to orders.

At the same time No. 12, which was running late, left Knobnoster. Dispatcher Strange knew this and at once gave orders to Operator Taylor at Lamonte to hold No. 3 until No. 12 passed at Lamonte. Operator Taylor took the order, but said nothing about No. 3 having gone, and the inevitable result was a head-end collision.

Dispatcher Strange has been dispatching trains for twelve years and came to Sedalia from De Soto, Mo., several months ago, succeeding H. M. Alexander, promoted to chief dispatcher, and is one of the best-liked employees of the Missouri Pacific.

At the M. K. & T. railway hospital this morning the physicians reported all of the wreck victims as doing nicely, and at that time it was thought none of the patients would die.

The steam crane was taken to the scene of the wreck today and the work of removing the demolished locomotives to this city was begun. E. M. Dennis, trainmaster, is in charge of the work.

United States mail which was in the wreck was brought to this city last afternoon and sent west on No. 1 this afternoon.

Among the baggage scattered in the vicinity of the wreck was a large sized trunk, owned by Mrs. L. D. Wilder, of Leavenworth, N. Y. She and satin gowns; twenty-two pairs of silk hose, each pair entirely different from the other; eighteen pairs of kid gloves and numerous other articles of wearing apparel were thrown about and later brought to the baggage room where they were hung on a clothes-line to dry. General Baggage Agent Benton Quick, of St. Louis, arrived here this morning and is in charge of the demolished baggage.

Mrs. Peter Alexander, wife of a farmer of Lone Jack, Mo., whose husband is among the injured at the M. K. & T. hospital, arrived this morning to be at her husband's bedside.

The coroner's jury that was convened at Knobnoster yesterday was composed of A. M. Craig, Edward S. Harte, James Hogan, S. A. Spiess, G. W. Morrow and John Wagner. Dr. J. L. Bradley, coroner, assisted by Prosecuting Attorney Cockrell, con-

HAD A LARGE AUDIENCE

HON. W. S. COWHERD GREETED
VERY WARMLY LAST NIGHT.

THE THEATER WAS FULLY OCCUPIED

Cubernatorial Candidate Made Very Eloquent Speech and Many Friends Last Night—Stated
His Policies Frankly

The Cowherd meeting at the Sedalia theater last night was one of the most enthusiastic held in this city in many years. In spite of the fact that hundreds of people were attracted to the Missouri Pacific shops to witness the search for additional victims of the wreck who might still be in the cars, and the further fact of most disagreeable weather, the theater was filled with a most representative crowd of democrats, all of whom listened attentively to the address of the leading candidate of their party for governor.

There were many ladies in the audience, who seemed just as interested and just as enthusiastic as their lesser halves.

Hon. John T. Heard was chairman of the meeting and introduced Mr. Cowherd in warm words of praise. Mr. Cowherd was frequently interrupted by applause at the most telling points of his address.

The speech was a democratic one and was devoid of the personalities so often used by candidates for public place, who elevate their individual ambitions and desires above principles and policies, and seek only to gratify their hunger for personal triumph.

Mr. Cowherd told the people very frankly what he stood for, what he believed in and what would be his policies if he should be elected governor. He had no word of disparagement for those who are opposing him in the race, but made it distinctly understood that he was only seeking democratic support and that republicans aid to secure the nomination was something he did not have and did not want.

Regarding the liquor question, the speaker said that he was against state-wide prohibition, but declared himself in favor of local option. "There are some communities," said he, "which do not want the saloon done away with and again there are certain communities which want temperance. Now what right have the counties who want temperance to vote on what any other county should do."

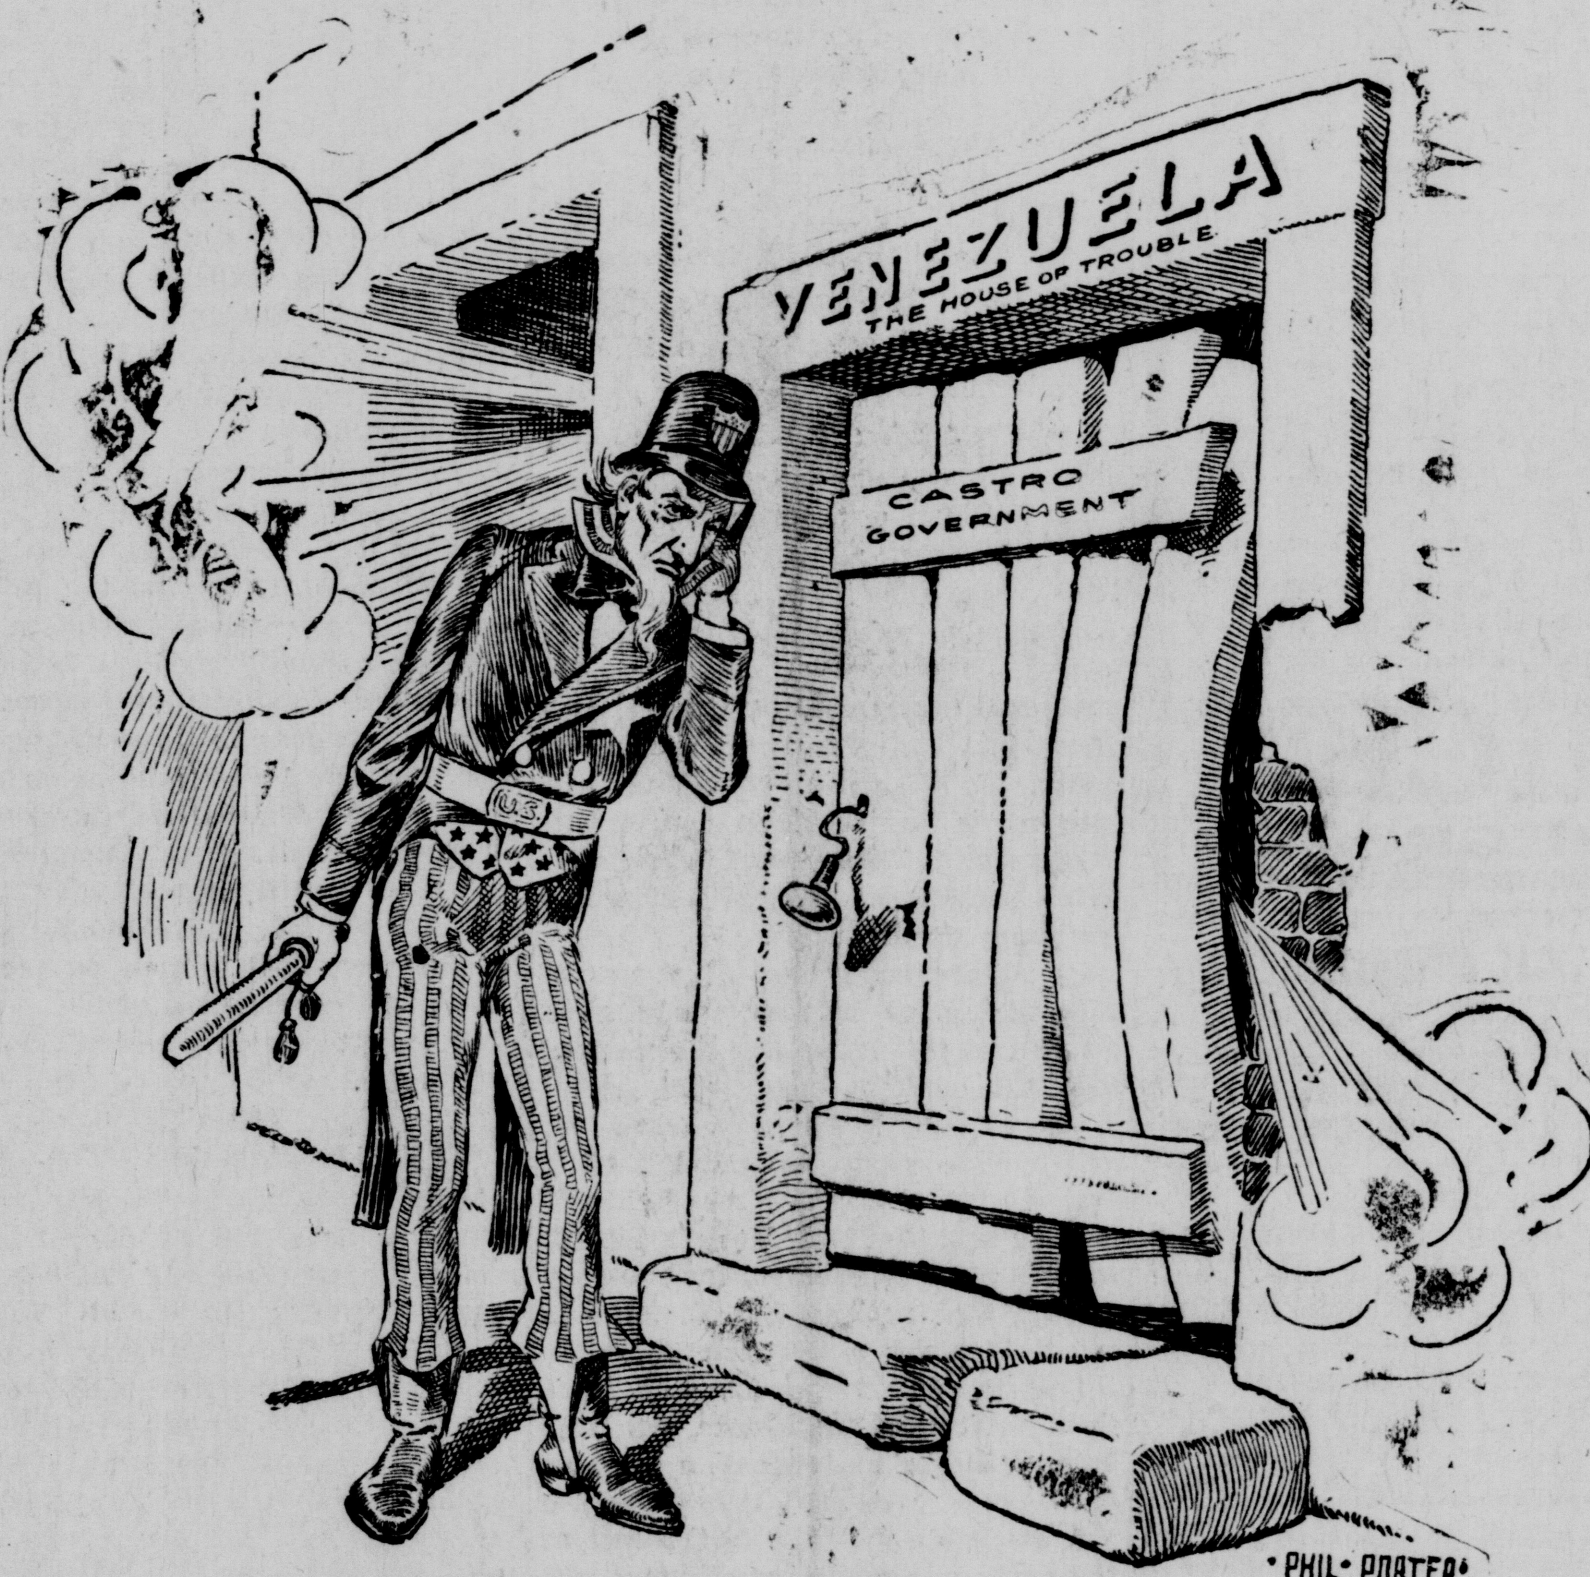

"I have lived for a quarter of a century in Kansas City," he continued, "where the saloon is licensed and pays taxes into the city, county and state treasury; across the line from Kansas City in the state of Kansas the saloons run just as wide open as they do in Missouri, although the places are not licensed and pay only to the men who wink at their law breaking."

"As to my stand on Sunday closing I stated that some months ago, Sunday closing is the law and should be nominated and elected I will see that the law is obeyed."

Regarding the state school system, he said:

"Nine-tenths of the boys and girls of Missouri are educated in the public schools, while throughout this magnificent state of Missouri we have numerous normal schools and a big state university which is also open to them. It is in these institutions that the teachers are trained. If these big institutions were done away with from where would come the trained minds to teach the youth of Missouri?"

Mexico City, July 3.—Word reached this city today that the band of raiders who recently attacked the customs house at the village of Palomas have escaped across the border and are now in the United States. Dispatches from various points say that absolute quiet reigns everywhere.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 3.—A copy of a revolutionary manifesto, dated in this city May 15, and bearing the signature of Ricardo Flores Magon, Antonio I. Villarael, Enrique Flores Magon, Librado Rivera, Manuel Sarabia and Praxedis G. Guerrero, was found here yesterday and on translation proves to be an appeal to the Mexican people to "start a great fight for freedom."

The first three mentioned signers of this document are in the county jail, charged with violating the neutrality laws of the United States. Sarabia has been taken to Tucson, Ariz., for trial on a similar indictment.

New Calamity.

Yusofa, Russia, July 3.—Fire broke out today in the Bikovsky mine which yesterday was the scene of an explosion of gas that resulted in a heavy loss of life.

The work of rescue is being conducted under the greatest difficulties. One hundred and sixty dead bodies have already been brought out.

RECITAL WELL ATTENDED

Pupils of Misses Casebeer and Willis
Show Splendid Training.

The auditorium of the Epworth M. E. church was crowded last night with the many friends of the piano pupils of Miss Myrtle Casebeer and the violin pupils of Miss Belle Willis for their first annual recital.

The program as printed in last Sunday's Democrat-Sentinel was carried out in full, and each and every pupil showed remarkable skill and the result of a thorough training by their teachers.

At the conclusion of the program, which was greatly enjoyed by all present, Dr. H. B. Cole made an appropriate talk to the pupils and presented Miss Della Boyle a gold medal for having made the best grade of the year.

The pupils of these teachers have organized within their membership a club for the study of the history of music and social intercourse, and last night they gave a little dialogue play between numbers, which was very interesting and caused much laughter.

Those taking a leading part in the cast were: Gypsy Girl, Mildred Franklin; Gypsy Boy, Harry Holcroft; Kate, Florence Tegler; Florence, Helen Conkle.

GIRLS BURNED TO CRISP

EXPLOSION OF FIREWORKS IN DEPARTMENT STORE
KILLS SIX.

VICTIMS WERE CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Clerks and Customers Fled Panic
Stricken From Flying Rockets and Cannon Crackers.

Cleveland, O., July 3.—Six persons, five girls and a boy, are known to be dead, with possibly a score of others more or less seriously injured as the result of an explosion of fireworks in F. Kreggs' 5 and 10 cent store, on Ontario street, this city today.

A panic among hundreds of clerks and customers followed the explosion. At once flames and smoke filled all the upper floors of the store.

Two of the dead girls were working at the fireworks counter on the ground floor. The counter is in the center of the store and is box-shaped, the girls being inside the inclosure, and when the explosion occurred they could not escape. They dropped to the floor and sought safety under the counter, the flying rockets and crackers exploding all around them.

All the customers who were about the counter had an opportunity to escape, but no one stopped to save the girls, and they burned to death in this trap.

It was not known until nearly two hours after the fire that any persons had lost their lives, and the fact was not discovered until the firemen began searching the building after the flames had been conquered. Then the charred bodies of the girls and a little boy were found on the first floor and in the basement.

The explosion started when one of the clerks was demonstrating a piece of the fireworks. A spark from it ignited other pieces and the explosion followed. A panic then ensued. Clerks and shoppers rushed for windows and stairways and many people were trampled under foot.

The body of the boy who lost his life has been identified as James Parker, but the identity of the girls has not been established.

MAKES SERIOUS CHARGE

Head of Miners' Federation Tells of Alleged Conspiracy.

Grand Junction, Colo., July 3.—That a conspiracy has been formed to start a riot during the Fourth of July celebration at Telluride, which was to result in bloodshed and to be followed by deportations, is the grave charge made by President Charles H. Moyer, of the Western Federation of Miners, in an open letter to members of the Federation.

Before leaving Telluride today, Adjutant General Wells said he had heard no report of such a proposition and flatly declared that he did not believe there was such a conspiracy.

DEATH OF MR. B. W. PLANT

WELL KNOWN PRINTER WHO WAS A NATIVE OF BOON-
VILLE, MISSOURI.

GOOD MANY SEDALIANS KNEW HIM

Was Foreman of the Democrat at Ardmore, Oklahoma, and That Paper Pays the Deceased
a High Tribute.

Bert W. Plant, a native of Boonville, Mo., where for many years he was engaged in the printing business, known to hundreds of Sedalians, died recently at Ardmore, Okla., and was written of as follows in the Democrat of that city:

Bert W. Plant, former foreman of the Morning Democrat in the mechanical department, has looked up his last "form," the final "copy" has been read and the wheels of the press of life have ceased to revolve—the "job" is finished.

Mr. Plant died yesterday morning at the sanitarium after having been ill for several weeks, but on Sunday had seemed to rally, but a relapse quickly brought on the end. He was 50 years old at the time of his death.

Mr. Plant was one of the best known printers in this part of the state and in parts of Texas, where he had worked for a number of years. He had been connected with the Democrat for the past two years and was a conscientious workman, generous to a fault, always standing up for a square deal, and was liked by all who knew him.

His ability, his honesty and his desire to please and sunny disposition made him friends wherever he chose to cast his lot. He was devoted to his mother and a number of whom he always spoke in tenderest words, and had planned to visit them this summer.

He was a native of Boonville, Mo., where he learned his trade, afterwards becoming the owner of a paper. He later sold out and after visiting different parts of the country came to Texas, and then to Oklahoma.

Mr. Plant had no relatives here, but his mother, who lives in Elwood, Ind., and a daughter in the clerical department of a large department store in Des Moines, Ia., also a sister in Chicago, Mrs. B. B. Ray, survive him. The relatives were notified of his untimely death immediately. His remains were laid to rest yesterday afternoon in Rose Hill cemetery. Rev. Simms, of the Broadway Methodist church, conducted impressive funeral services at the grave.

(Editorial Note)—The editor of the Morning Democrat does not feel that full justice has been done to this unfortunate man without a personal word. B. W. Plant began work on the Morning Democrat with its inception, more than two years ago. From the first day he stepped into the Democrat office to the unfortunate hour when he left he gave his heart, mind and physical strength and ability to his labors. During that time he never "soldered" one minute or slighted a single job. He never watched the clock or listened for the whistle. The Democrat's interest was Plant's interest. No man could have been more faithful. Every customer of the job office was his friend, for he did his best to do their work as they wished it instead of assuming that the man who was paying the bill had not enough sense to know what he wanted. He was courteous, kind and patient. The result was that while he came to the Democrat office drawing the lowest wage scale paid, for a year he has full charge of the mechanical department at the highest wage, drawing $13 a month above the union scale. He has never been "laid off" by the office for one hour, and has drawn more wages during the past year than any other "hand man" in the city.

To the Democrat family the death of Mr. Plant caused sincere sorrow, and with his family and friends we join in mourning this man who was absolutely without a fault and had only one weakness. As much can be said for few men.

Bishop Potter No Worse.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 3.—Bishop Potter's condition was today no worse than last evening. He passed a comfortable night and was in good spirits, though still very weak.

COWHERD MAKING FRIENDS.

Mr. Cowherd's visit to Sedalia and his address at the Sedalia theater last night added mightily to the favorable opinion already entertained for him among the people of the city and county. Mr. Cowherd is one of the cleanest and brightest men now before the public eye.

He is so thoroughly in earnest in his advocacy of democratic doctrines, and so ruggedly honest in the expression of his convictions in regard to matters of interest to the people that he wins the admiration and esteem of all who are privileged to hear him, either in public speech or private conversation.

He is a plain, old fashioned and frank representative of the people, one of the sort that in the past have shed luster on the state and added honor to the nation.

The party will make no mistake in selecting him to head the ticket, nor the citizens in making him the next governor of Missouri.

Pettis county democracy is for him, because Pettis county democrats are always safe and sane in their judgment of candidates, and the rest of the state is rapidly becoming to be of the same opinion.

Cowherd sentiment and Cowherd support is growing with a rapidity that is very gratifying to those who are looking to the best interests of the commonwealth.

CHANGE IN THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

Of all the public service in which he has been engaged, Mr. Taft's administration of the war department has been the least conspicuous. As a judge he attained prominence, not the least of which was due to notoriety over his anti-labor decisions. As governor of the Philippine Islands his career was distinguished perhaps by the most valuable work he has ever done for the government. In this work Taft showed rare administrative capacity and the most diligent application to a not exceptional ly pleasant duty. He brought about an improvement of conditions there and enlisted the confidence of the natives to a degree that few Americans could have accomplished.

Down to this period, Taft had not engaged in politics. His ambition was to become a member of the supreme court of the United States. He looked upon himself as a public servant and in no sense an office seeker. When Roosevelt brought him home to serve in the cabinet he sowed the first seeds of political aspiration in the then rather inhospitable soil of his war secretary. But the seeds swelled and in a short time burst into a full fledged presidential tree. Taft's career since that time has been radically different from what it was before. He has been groomed, and the job has been well done by the keeper of his destiny, for the White House. He has been kept before the public eye, now by a diplomatic mission to Panama, now by a trip to the Philippines, now by a visit to Cuba and finally by a tour of the world.

The war department has shifted for itself during much of this busy time. The reorganization of the army, the most constructive military work in recent years, was evolved by his predecessor, Elihu Root.

Yet in spite of this forward move, it is a notorious fact that the army has been for some time in a state of decline; that its ranks are being depleted by desertion and non-enlistment, and that conditions generally are unsatisfactory in that branch of the military.

Without doubt these things are due in part to defects in the laws governing the army, but it is also probable that they are chargeable in large measure to neglect springing from politics. For the last two or three years the war department has been immersed in politics and there is an old saying that a man can not attend to business and politics at the same time. One will suffer, and it is evident that politics hasn't in this case.

At any rate, General Wright will have his hands full in the consideration of numerous reforms in the war department, which will demand his attention forthwith. That the new secretary appreciates the situation is shown by the announcement that he will stay in Washington all summer, and will take no vacation, in order to investigate matters.

ADVERTISING THAT PAYS.

Whenever the means are at hand for an advertiser who uses other mediums in conjunction with the daily newspapers to mathematically determine the relative value of his various agents of publicity, the newspapers welcome the test.

A New York theatrical manager was recently prompted to make such an inquiry. He had put posters on all the fences in Harlem—in which field his play house is located; he had put ten "sandwich" men on the streets; he had sent out 25,000 hand bills and 15,000 postal cards; he had put signs on wagons and he had advertised in the daily papers. At every performance for a week he distributed slips among the patrons of his theater, on which they were requested to state what form of persuasion had brought them to the show. The replies were tabulated. They proved that over 75 per cent of the theater-goers had responded to the newspaper ads.

The people who frequent the theaters are pretty much the same sort of people that every vender of merchandise wants to reach. "Nuff said."

DELUDED VOTERS.

As the republicans of Iowa and Massachusetts, and Minnesota and Wisconsin, where the bacillus of tariff reform was supposed to have inoculated the republican party, did through their delegates to the republican national convention vote for any old tariff plank, from maximum and minimum to leaving it to the commission, what are the voters going to do about it? They have undoubtedly been flummoxed and must rebel or take their stand pat medicine. After the way the Iowa and Massachusetts voters, especially, have been fooled, it would seem that another promise to revise the tariff "after election" would hardly be swallowed with belief or satisfaction. It will only take a small percentage of the deluded voters of those states to turn the table on their three-card monte republican leaders. Will they do it, or will they again support the republican ticket and thus help to support the tariffed trusts that are plundering them?

PREPARING FOR FOURTH

NEW YORK WILL SPEND ABOUT $4,000,000 CELEBRATING INDEPENDENCE DAY.

WILL BE GO AS YOU PLEASE AFFAIR

Last Year Four Were Killed, 400 Were Injured and There Were 116 Fires—Celebration at Many Other Points.

New York, July 3.—New York will spend about $4,000,000 tomorrow in celebrating the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence if J. P. Phylus and the local weather sharps provide anything resembling a fair day.

Incidentally, several persons, mainly small boys, will lay down their lives upon the altar of patriotism. The number of injured will mount into the hundreds—the list last year numbered nearly 400. A dozen or two youngsters will pick it up because it didn't go off right away, and will lose a few fingers or an eye or two as a result. The pedennial fool who didn't know it was loaded will get in his usual deadly work.

Premature explosions of fireworks will take place in many and divers places and the firemen of the metropolis will be kept busy. The ambulance surgeons too, will have an active time of it in administering first aid to the injured. Altogether, it may be said that New York is headed toward another glorious and bloody Fourth, and nothing but the details are lacking for a full description.

Dealers in fireworks, who have their habitat in Park Place, admit to doing a bigger business than ever before. It is estimated that $2,000,000 is a moderate estimate of the cost of the explosives and fireworks that will go up in smoke tomorrow and that the grand total for the nation will be in the neighborhood of $25,000,000. Many new and novel ways to burn up money have been invented for this season's trade.

If all the folks within the greater city would stay at home and set off their firecrackers and fireworks, the biggest town in the country could easily give a $5,000,000 flip to the day we celebrate. But from early today until tomorrow is well advanced, every train and boat departing from New York will bear its share of a goodly slice of the city's population bound for the country, the seaside, or the mountains, where the air may be cooler, but the noise will be as great, proportionately.

New York will have a go-as-you-please celebration. No official cognizance, in the way of exercises, will be taken by the city authorities. Corsy Island and the other seashore resorts are ready to handle the biggest crowds of the season, if it doesn't rain.

Despite the defection of many of the big chiefs, who left today for Denver, Tammany Hall will have its usual Fourth of July scream and the tail of the tiger will be pulled until he roars as never before. There will be numerous sporting events on land and water.

Last year's record in New York was four killed, about 400 injured and 116 fires. With fair weather, tomorrow's roll of the dead and injured is expected to be even greater and more glorious.

Celebrate in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 3.—Oklahoma, the bouncing baby of Uncle Sam's happy family is the proudest of the flock. While the new commonwealth has been in the Union for some time, it will have representation on the flag for the first time tomorrow, and preparations have been made for a fitting celebration of this event in every city and village in the state.

Of the first editions of the forty-six star flag, one was made by Mrs. Charles W. Alexander, who went to Philadelphia for the purpose, and, while occupied with the task, sat in a chair where sat Betsy Ross when she made the first American flag. Another banner was made by ninety-two Oklahoma women, chosen from all sections, each sewing on a star, one on each side of the flag. After tomorrow's flag raising at Independence Hall, Philadelphia, the flag will be placed in the custody of the Oklahoma Historical Association.

Fourth in the Capital.

Washington, July 3.—Dedication of the new municipal building, which will be marked by especially significant ceremonies, will be the feature of the Independence Day celebration in the national capital tomorrow. There is every indication that the observance of the day will be the most enthusiastic in years.

The forty-sixth star, signaling the admission of Oklahoma as a state, will be officially added to the flag tomorrow.

The field, or union of the national flag in use in the army, will, from after tomorrow consist of forty-six stars, in six rows, the first, third, fourth and sixth rows to have eight stars, and the second and fifth rows seven stars each, in a blue field.

To Raise Oklahoma Flag.

Philadelphia, July 3.—A forty-six star flag will be hoisted above Independence Hall for the first time tomorrow, when a party of prominent Oklahoma officials and citizens will join in a great celebration. At 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the new banner will be raised over the historic building and the news will be flashed to every city and town in the new state. The Oklahomans in this city will sing "The Star Spangled Banner," and at virtually the same moment the Oklahomans in their own state will join in the chorus of the national anthem.

Statue to Lafayette.

Paris, July 3.—Pam Barwilt's heroic statue of Lafayette, the gift to France of the school children of America, will probably be unveiled tomorrow on the Place de Louvre. A dispute concerning payments due both the artist and the foundrymen has threatened for a time to cause a postponement of the ceremony, but it is likely that the question will be amicably settled. As elaborate ceremonies were held in 1900 on the occasion of the unveiling of the plaster cast, tomorrow's program will not be impressive.

Yankee Flags in London.

London, July 3.—Thousands of American flags will fly over London tomorrow and there will likely be an unprecedented outburst of Yankee patriotism. The customary banquet will be held at the Hotel Cecil tomorrow night. Special observation will mark the day at the Franco-British exhibition and the Scottish National exhibition in Edinburgh. Reports from the continent state that elaborate celebrations will be held in Paris, Berlin, Rome, St. Petersburg, Vienna and other capitals.

Merrymaking in France.

Paris, July 3.—Merrymaking incident to the Independence Day observance began today in the American quarter and will culminate tomorrow night in a grand banquet, which will be attended by several Americans of prominence. American residents will attempt to prove tomorrow the truth of Patrick F. Murphy's observation that, notwithstanding the number of Frenchmen who persist in frequenting the city, Paris is still an American city.

"Safe and Sane" Fourth.

Minneapolis, Minn., July 3.—A "safe and sane Fourth for the kids" is the lemonade, cords of popcorn bricks Minneapolis. Many hogsheds of lemonade, cords of popcorn bricks and thousands of flags will be distributed free in an attempt to save the 50,000 school children of the city from the deadly ravages of firecrackers and toy pistols.

Celebrate in Cuba.

Havana, July 3.—Celebrations will be held in Cuba tomorrow wherever American soldiers and citizens may be found. Numerous sporting and athletic events will be provided for the amusement of the Yankees of this city. Bands will play American airs and the Declaration of Independence will be read to the soldiers.

Descendants of Signers.

Philadelphia, July 3.—Members of the Order of Descendants of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence, formed last year at the Hot Time in Panama.

Panama, July 3.—Pink lemonade and other beverages will flow, firecrackers will boom and orators will spout from one end of the canal zone to the other tomorrow. A holiday has been given all the canal employees and the Fourth will be observed in a typically American manner.

"Wet" Fourth in Mexico.

City of Mexico, July 3.—American residents of this city will celebrate the Fourth with elaborate festivities. A spirited campaign to prevent the sale of intoxicants was voted down by members of the colony and the celebration will be "wet," as usual.

H. C. TOWNSEND IS DEAD

GENERAL PASSENGER AND TICKET AGENT OF THE MISSOURI PACIFIC.

HE HAD BEEN RETIRED ON FULL PAY

One of the Most Popular Men Ever Connected With the Railway Service West of Mississippi River.

St. Louis, Mo., July 3.—Henry C. Townsend, dean of St. Louis railroad men, died at his summer cottage at Port Huron, Mich., early Thursday. Death was due to an aggravated stomach complaint. Burial probably will be made at Peoria, Ill., beside his wife. Mr. Townsend was perhaps the best known man about St. Louis hotels and theaters. He lived at the Southern.

When the reorganization of the Missouri Pacific traffic department was effected January 1, last, Mr. Townsend retained his title of general passenger and ticket agent. Because of his ill health, Charles L. Stone was appointed general passenger traffic manager, a newly-created office, and attended to the heavier duties, which enabled Mr. Townsend to make a futile attempt to regain his strength, seriously impaired, by long and faithful service.

A permanent vacation, with full pay, was granted him. Six weeks ago he went to Columbus, Ohio, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Amy Lindenberg. He accompanied his family to Port Huron Thursday.

Several days ago Charles Ware, an intimate friend, received a letter from Mr. Townsend at Port Huron, in which he said he and his family were doing well.

For years the Townsend family resided at 4315 Delmar boulevard. Five years ago Mrs. Townsend was injured in a trolley accident at Asheville, N. C. She died five months later. Her husband's health declined from that date.

Mr. Townsend is survived by a sister, Mrs. Brainard Allison, of St. Louis; a son, Walter Townsend, traveling freight agent of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, headquarters at Alameda, Cal., and two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Lathrop, of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Lindenberg, of Columbus.

He got business for his road through his personality. He was genial to high and low, easily approached and generally liked. Up to two years ago he was president of the National Association of Passenger Agents.

Mr. Townsend was prominent in Masonic circles and belonged to Moolah Temple and the Royal Arcanum. He was a member of the First Congregational church.

Mr. Townsend was born in Pittsburgh, August 11, 1847, and began railway service in the auditor's office of the Bellefonte railroad in 1863, where he remained for a year.

He then became a clerk in the freight office of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore railroad for another year. He became advertising clerk in the general passenger department of the Pennsylvania system, where he served six years.

He became passenger and ticket agent for the Toledo, Peoria & Warsaw railway, at Peoria, Ill., in 1871. Six years later he was made general passenger and ticket agent of the Wabash at Toledo, Ohio, serving there two years.

Next he became general passenger agent of the Wabash St. Louis & Pacific railway, at St. Louis. Four years later he was appointed general passenger agent of the Missouri Pacific railway lines and Wabash, St. Louis & Pacific. In 1884 he was made general passenger and ticket agent of the Missouri Pacific railway, St. Louis.

MAUD'S POLITIC DANCE

GREAT PAINTINGS INSPIRED HER TO PORTRAY EMOTIONS, SHE SAYS.

WOULD BAR TIGHTS; UNBECOMING

Not Self-Conscious in Salome Costume Which She Designed—The Sensation of the London Stage.

London, July 3.—Miss Maud Allan, whose dancing is the present sensation of the London stage and society, lives in a flat at Richmond Gardens with her mother.

To an interviewer she said she never had a dancing lesson in her life. Music was her early love, and her girlish dreams were of winning fame as a pianist. When in Germany, however, studying music, she spent a great deal of her time in the picture galleries there. Artists told her that it was becoming increasingly difficult to find women who could express individuality and emotion by their pose.

"Then," said Miss Allan, "the idea somehow came to me that would be a beautiful thing to bring to life some of the poetic figures of song and story, to portray woman as she was in the times of the ancients, free and untrammelled in her dress and modes of life—and to express in every gesture the emotions of love, joy, hate or fear, as the primitive people even today are wont to do."

"The music to which people dance is an extremely important factor. It should be music of intelligence and inspiration, and each child should be allowed to interpret it her own way. The teacher who teaches her pupils to perform feats in a merely mechanical manner misses the fact that dancing is the expression of one's inmost soul, and unless the movements express individuality and personality, it is not dancing in the true sense of the word."

"Not the feet alone (as too many people seem to think), but the face, the hands, the arms, and all other parts of the body should move rhythmically and harmoniously. Yet each member should work independently of the other. Just as in singing a quartette, the bass, tenor, contralto and soprano, are all independent of each other, and so on, yet each in part is the picture one wishes to convey."

"I might with my arms like this (and Miss Allan made an undulating motion with the long, graceful arms) convey the impression of waving corn, while at the same time a movement of my little finger conjures up the impression of a little bird singing. Each movement is independent, yet the one is quite incomplete without the other. The majority of modern dancers seem to think that only the feet matter."

Ballet dancing finds but small favor in Miss Allan's eyes. Wonderful toe-turning performances, she says, may be very marvelous from an acrobatic point of view, but they are not dancing, they express nothing noble and inspiring.

The conversation turned on the much discussed Salome costume, which Miss Allan bought and devised herself. She had followed no pattern. It was entirely, with the exception of the breastplates, which in ancient times always formed a part of the costumes of women, a creation of her own imagination, and every stone in its barbaric splendor has some significance as representing Miss Allan's conception of the character of Salome. In reply to a question, Miss Allan said that she was well aware that the costume had aroused much adverse criticism.

"Personally, I do not feel in the slightest degree self-conscious when I appear in it," she declared. "I get so engrossed in my subject that the public does not exist for me, and yet I would not for the world appear in public in tights. But, of course, the idea of representing Salome in tights, a woman who lived in a time when such an article of apparel was unknown, is absolutely ludicrous. My idea is that the clothing should conform as nearly as possible to the character that I am interpreting."

Miss Allan has the greatest difficulty in persuading photographers to desist in "touching her up."

"Look at my nose," she said, turning a charming profile. "I had an accident once which made a little ripple in it. Photographers always want to take that ripple away. They are afraid the public won't approve of it, and they are dreadfully anxious to do away with a part of my mouth and give me a little prim mouth instead. You have no idea how hard they have tried to take me with the picture postcard smile, but I simply won't have it. If people don't like me as I am, I am not going to alter myself to please them."

Appropos of the wonderfully beautiful and expressive hands, which play such an important part in her dances, Miss Allan showed a remarkable solid silver cast of one of them. This rather original gift was sent to her by some friends.

"When anyone asks for my hand," she said, humorously, "I think I'll give him this."

ducted the examination. Adjournment was taken last evening until today, and it was stated this afternoon that a verdict had not yet been returned.

E. P. Owens and E. Purdy, mail clerks from St. Louis, who were taken to the M. K. & T. railway hospital yesterday, and J. R. Tillman, express messenger, also of St. Louis, were taken home on the noon train today. Their injuries, though painful, are not serious. Stretches were utilized to carry Messrs. Owens and Purdy.

Welsh, whose body was taken from the telescoped cars this morning, sustained a compound fracture of the right leg and a Potts' fracture of the left ankle.

Campbell's body was bruised and injured internally and his left ankle sustained a Potts' fracture, while his hand was bruised.

A report from the M. K. & T. hospital this afternoon is that each victim of the wreck is getting along very nicely. T. H. Roberts, of St. Louis, whose fractured skull and fractured leg are the most serious of any injuries, is said to be improving the most rapidly.

Taken to St. Louis.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat of this morning had the following:

Walter B. Welsh, messenger on train No. 3, the westbound train, who was killed, resided at 2026-A Allen avenue. He was married and had a baby about four months old. Mrs. Welsh was at the home of a friend, Mrs. W. D. Wells, of 2029-A Russell avenue, last night and at a late hour had not been informed that her husband was dead. She is in ill health and the news of Mr. Welsh's death was withheld from her, fearing that the shock would cause her death.

Welsh had been railroaded many years. He came to St. Louis in 1903 from Atchison, Kas. It was stated at the Wells home last night that the body probably would be taken to Kansas City for burial.

The body of W. H. Harding, colored, mail clerk on train No. 12, eastbound, who was instantly killed, will be taken to Nashville, Tenn., for burial. He had been with the Missouri Pacific about five years. He lived at 4233 Cottage avenue.

Brace A. Fleming, mail clerk in charge in train No. 12, was standing about two feet from Harding when the accident happened, and says that his escape from death was miraculous. Fleming was injured about the head and his right arm was severely wrenched. He was also badly bruised about the body. Fleming has been railroaded for over twenty-five years and this is the first time that he has been severely hurt. Fleming is married and lives at 2837 Park avenue.

Train No. 20 brought a number of the injured in at 7:10 p. m. yesterday. "Black" Williams, conductor on train No. 3, who had his right shoulder blade fractured, arrived on the train and was taken to his home in Kirkwood. Others who were brought in on No. 20 are: Frank Vincent, of 2730 Lafayette avenue, mail clerk on train No. 3; C. H. Smith, of 4544 Morgan street, mail clerk; E. P. Owen, mail clerk on train No. 12; W. D. Coleman, of 5527 Wells avenue, a mail clerk, and Mr. Fleming.

Injured Are Reticent.

All of the injured men refused to discuss the wreck, saying that officials of the road had told them not to talk. The injured men were met at the station by Thomas H. Conklin, chief clerk of the railway mail service.

Smith's left arm was injured and he received numerous lacerations and was badly bruised about the head and shoulders. He was taken to his Eliab Purdy, mail clerk on train No. 12, who received a deep gash on the head and a broken arm and numerous lacerations and bruises, also lives at Tuxedo park. W. D. Fortune Teller Knew It.

William I. Frisbie, one of the St. Louisans reported killed in the Knobnoster wreck, was a shoe factory worker, living at 1019 South Thirtieth street. He was 29 years old and married. Until recently he was employed at one of the factories of the Roberts, Johnson & Rand Shoe company.

A reporter who found Mrs. Frisbie last night brought her the first news that her husband was among the dead. She became hysterical and declared that she had felt a warning that something had happened to her husband and had been nervous all day about it, although she did not know for certain that he was one of the wrecked trains.

"I told Will not to go on this trip," she said to a woman friend between sobs, "after what that fortune teller had told him. The fortune teller read his future and said he would not live to be 30 years old. He would have been 30 next September."

Frisbie was on his way to San Francisco to take a job there. He left St. Louis Wednesday night on train No. 3.

Doctor, Unhurt, Tells of Wreck.

Dr. J. C. Fahnestock, of Piqua, Ohio, who was a passenger on train No. 12, east bound, reached St. Louis last night.

"I was in one of the back Pullmans," he said, "and the collision did not hurt any one in my car. I felt the jolt, and knew in a moment there was a collision. As I dressed I looked at my watch, and it was 5:20 a. m."

"Before I got into my clothes a trainman came in, said there were a lot of people hurt and wanted doctors, man was his brother-in-law. Mr.

I was the only physician on the train, it seemed, and I had my hands full for two hours until the relief train came. Ten of the worst injured were carried into a coach and laid out on the seats. Most of them had fractured limbs. One old man of 70 years had his ankle so badly fractured that the bones protruded through the flesh. He bore the pain bravely. Several women were hurt, but none of them very seriously, as far as I saw.

"I saw six bodies, and when the relief train left for Sedalia there were thought to be several more bodies under the wreck. We had about thirty injured persons aboard the train, which took them to the hospital at Sedalia. One man was badly hurt and I do not think he lived."

Pullman Conductor Talks.

H. C. Chase, Pullman conductor on train No. 12, who came in last night on No. 20, said that it was the worst wreck he had ever seen. He said that when he left the scene in the afternoon the wrecking crews were still digging in the debris for bodies. He said that when he left Welsh's body had not been found.

When the crash came, he said, every one was thrown from their seats and many were shaken from their berths, but no one was seriously injured in the sleeping cars.

"The suffering was something terrible," Mr. Chase said. "The doctors had treated thirty-seven fractures before I left the scene."

Mrs. J. P. Campbell, of 7527 Vermont avenue, feared last night that her husband, J. P. Campbell, who was a baggageman on train No. 3, and is supposed to have been in the same car with Welsh, was killed. Mrs. Campbell said that she had not heard from him since the accident occurred.

Edward F. H. Weneker, of 6221 Simpson avenue, Clifton Heights, said last night that his brother-in-law, P. H. Roberts, was probably in the wreck. Mr. Weneker, who is connected with the Blanke-Weneker Candy company, said that he noticed in the list of injured the name of H. P. Roberts, and thought that was his brother-in-law. Mr.

Roberts recently moved from Clifton Heights to Tuxedo Park.

Feared Husband Was Hurt.

The St. Louis Republic of this morning had the following:

"I knew somehow this morning when John didn't come home that there had been a wreck. I kept feeling all night that something was wrong. I told my boys last night to do their tasks carefully, for they might lose their father at any minute and they must be prepared to go out and work for themselves."

John R. Wilkinson's wife was speaking at her home, No. 4601 St. Ferdinand avenue, yesterday afternoon, while she was putting on her hat to meet her injured husband.

"John has been in the railway mail service nearly twenty-one years," she went on. "This is the fifth serious wreck he has been in and he has survived two train robberies. He has never been seriously hurt."

"He knows that I worry about him, and this morning, just as I was going to the telephone to inquire of the office why he had not come home, the telephone rang and I heard his voice: 'There's been a wreck and I'm not much hurt. I'm at Sedalia. Don't worry. There half a dozen men killed, but I am only scratched. I'll be home tonight."

"John always calls up when he is in a wreck. He knows that the children and I are home worrying."

Truly a Lucky Man.

"He is, I guess, the luckiest man in the railway mail service. When a Wabash train went through a bridge eleven years ago, out of all the mail clerks, he and a man named Bert only were saved. In a wreck at Tipton three or four years ago the engine was demolished, and, although men were fatally injured in the car next to the engine, the car in which he was at work, he wasn't hurt."

"The train robbery in which John's life was in danger was the Marion Hedgepeth hold-up at Little Blue, many years ago. He was in another hold-up later near the same place."

Mrs. Wilkinson has been associated with the government mail service practically all her life. She was post-mistress at Buffalo, Kas., when she met and married Wilkinson.

Seeing her husband survive nearly twenty years of wrecks and mishaps, she has grown to be a fatalist.

"Whether a railway mail clerk is killed or escapes is pure luck," she declared, as she hastened with her two sons to catch a street car to take them to the depot. "Look at Walter Coleman, a friend of Mr. Wilkinson, living at No. 5527 Wells avenue. His shoulder was dislocated and he was probably seriously injured in this wreck. He entered the service four years ago, and after a week or two was almost killed. His nose was broken and his head hurt. When he left the hospital he was transferred to the office and didn't go out on a train again until just a day or two ago."

Notes of the Wreck.

The mutilated remains of a man's arm were taken from a window in the three telescoped cars.

There were nine Western Union linemen in the baggage car of No. 3, and three were killed, while the other six escaped serious injury.

Trains Nos. 22 and 2, eastbound, were sent to Sedalia via the Lexington branch, but afternoon trains were sent over the main line as usual, somewhat late, however.

G. E. Sharp, of St. Louis, general foreman of construction for the Western Union Telegraph Co., arrived here today to visit his brother, W. E. Sharp, one of the wreck victims.

All trains from the west arrived late last night, on account of the wreck. No. 28, due here at 5:10 p. m., arrived at 11:50, while Nos. 4, 12 and 10 were considerably late.

Telegraph wires near the scene of the wreck were cut at once and instruments attached to secure telegraph connections with Sedalia. Trainmaster Dennis was in charge.

After partially moving the wreckage, section men constructed a spur sidetrack to permit the passing of trains, and by 4 o'clock last afternoon trains from the west passed the scene.

J. B. Anderson, a farmer living in the vicinity of the wreck, was at the scene shortly after the occurrence and provided the injured and hungry spectators with sandwiches and coffee.

Articles of various descriptions, including clothing, cooking utensils, mirrors, hair brushes, hat brushes and numerous other articles, were scattered over the ground in the vicinity of the wreck.

Hundreds of spectators from Johnson and Pettis counties assembled at the scene within two hours after the wreck occurred, while many Sedalians also appeared, having driven there or taken advantage of the Missouri Pacific special trains.

The fast mail train was detained to Kansas City yesterday via the Lexington branch, while train No. 11, which follows No. 3 west, was brought back to Sedalia from Lamonte and sent to Kansas City via the same route as the fast mail.

The wrecking outfit, carrying carmen, laborers, etc., reached the scene about 9 o'clock, and the task of clearing the debris was begun. Loaded and empty mail pouches were conveyed from the wrecked mail cars and transferred to a freight train and brought to Sedalia.

Strange to relate, both locomotives and every car remained on the track, in spite of the fearful impact, and three telescoped cars—a smoking car, baggage car and mail car—piled on top of each other, were pulled to Sedalia from the scene of the wreck, a distance of seventeen miles.

Sumpter R. English, of Olean, Miller county, who was one of the wreck and lost his life, was elected to the legislature in 1906 and served with distinction. Mr. English was the first democrat elected from Miller county in forty years. He was president of the Exchange bank of Olean and one of the most prominent men in that county.

Yesterday's wreck is equal in some respects to the terrible catastrophe that befell the World's fair passenger train that collided with a freight train on the Missouri Pacific six miles east of Warrensburg on October 10, 1904, twelve miles from the scene of yesterday's wreck, when thirty people bound for St. Louis lost their lives and fifty were badly injured.

The wreck resulted in yesterday being the record-breaking day from a business standpoint for the Western Union telegraph office in this city for a period of twenty-one years. Manager Gibbons and his staff had press and private dispatches piled on mountain high, almost, but at midnight last night they had the deck cleared and retired for a few hours' slumber.

Fully five hundred people assembled at the new shops last night to witness the tearing apart of the telescoped cars and many remained there until after the midnight hour. Dr. John A. Powers, deputy coroner of Johnson county, remained with the cars to learn if they contained any additional dead bodies, while secret service officers and the local police were stationed to guard the outfit, which was known to contain over $8,000 in money.

Mr. Bast Sells His Home.

T. W. Bast, the architect, has sold his nine-room residence and lot at 222 South Grand avenue to Lee Looney, the consideration being $4500. Mr. Bast and family will not go to Columbia to live until the latter part of August.

Aged Man's Experience With Young Women Has Been Somewhat Expensive and He Wants No More of It.

Perry, Okla., July 3.—While Captain John F. Cordell, 69 years old, member of the Grand Army of the Republic, capitalist and bridegroom of two days, had gone to buy a package of peanuts for his mother-in-law she and her companion straight, the bride, aged 19, fetching and Florence by name, hatched the final formalities of their plan to leave the gray whiskered husband.

Five minutes later, when Captain Cordell kissed the mother-in-law good by in the passenger coach, and stepped to the platform to join the waiting bride, he discovered that she was missing.

WITH A NEW DRUG— MUCO-SOLVENT.

In the Northern Lumber Camps, Government Bacteriological Expert States Mucosolvent Kills the Diphtheria and Typhoid Germs.

Dr. William C. Boteler, editor in chief of the North American Review, and one of the most eminent authorities in this country on diseases of the throat, ear and the treatment of the mucous membranes, says editorially in the Review: Mucosolvent is especially valuable in grip, diphtheria, croup, scarlet fever, pharyngitis, etc., and when given in the incipient stage of grip, diphtheria, croup or scarlet fever, reduces the mortality to zero.

Mucosolvent is used by the medical department of the Northwestern University of Kansas, and has been used extensively this winter by the city physicians of Kansas City.

Readers of this paper should take notice:

I find in Polar, Winnecone, Grantsburg—towns in Wisconsin—deaths from diphtheria were occurring daily—in Polar, a town of only 395 inhabitants, fifty-four were stricken with diphtheria and averaging a death daily. Mucosolvent was then introduced and the deaths came to an end.

The result of all tests serves to show that Mucosolvent effectively kills all germs that find special lodgment in the mucous membranes.

For the benefit of the reader, it is perhaps best to name some of the complaints indicated by diseased membranous conditions. Here are some of them:

Coughs, colds, grip, coryza, catarrh of the head, intestinal catarrh, croup, receding gums, uterine difficulties, etc. (In uterine difficulties, Mucosolvent is said to be invaluable for use in the douche.)

The range of utility of Mucosolvent is wider perhaps than that of any other discovery in the history of man. A mother, for instance, who has Mucosolvent at hand has an unfailing, infallible remedy to give to baby who in the dead of night coughs and develops feverish indication. If Mucosolvent is given baby will be safe from croup, whooping cough, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, etc.

A spray of Mucosolvent into the nostrils clears the head at once. Its effect is simply marvelous. In hay fever, for instance, the effect is instantaneous and permanent for that season.

People with grip or colds should spray the throat and nose and take a dose internally three times a day. It will be found that as a rule only a very short treatment will be required.

It does seem that any mother, knowing the remarkable properties of Mucosolvent, is committing an act closely allied to criminality when she fails to keep it on hand at all times.

N. B.—Dan Wilcox says he will guarantee every word of the above. Call on him and hear from him some of the wonderful things said of Mucosolvent—put up in 50 cent and $1 packages. Kept by Dan Wilcox.

for herself and fair Florence to Kansas City—purchased them out of the $2,500 they borrowed from Cordell he says, and went on their way to Fort Dodge, Ia., their home.

Cordell and Miss Haines were married two days previously in Oklahoma City, and came here to make their home. The mother-in-law accompanied them. Cordell was not satisfied with keeping the visitor for an extended time, however, and he prepared to ship her home.

Miss Florence was Cordell's fifth wife. The last three have been girls, one of them just well into her teens. The one before this was Miss Rosa Caloria, 15 years old, when he married about a year ago. He spent about $2,000 on her and was divorced in a short time. The wife before that was 16, and she died in a peculiar manner.

Cordell is reputed to be worth $70,000, consisting mainly of property in Oklahoma City, Perry and Missouri.

A NOTED EDITOR IS DEAD

MURAT HALSTEAD, ONE OF THE BEST KNOWN NEWSPAPER MEN IN THE COUNTRY.

DIED AT HIS HOME IN CINCINNATI

For Fifty Years He Attended and Reported All National Republican Conventions—Death From Hemorrhages.

Cincinnati, July 3.—Murat Halstead, one of the leaders in American journalism for over half a century, and widely known as a vigorous newspaper and magazine writer, died at his home in this city last afternoon. At his bed were his wife, his son, Robert, and one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Stem.

Mr. Halstead had been ill for several months, and Wednesday suffered from cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. and Mrs. Halstead celebrated their golden wedding anniversary a little more than a year ago. Albert Halstead, another son, is American consul at Birmingham, England, and other members of the family are scattered throughout the country.

Mr. Halstead was one of the greatest editors of the last half of the nineteenth century, and one of the strongest tributes to his incisiveness as a writer was in 1889, when his nomination by President Harrison to be American minister to Germany was rejected by the United States Senate because of articles he had published charging corruption to some members of that body.

In 1853 he became connected with the Cincinnati Commercial, and became chief owner in 1865. Nearly twenty years later his paper was consolidated with the Gazette, and he was editor in chief of the combined newspaper until years afterwards, when another consolidation was effected, new owners securing control.

For a time he was editor of the Brooklyn Standard-Union. In the civil war Mr. Halstead personally reported many battles, and during the Franco-German war he also in the Spanish-American war, he added to his reputation as a war correspondent.

For fifty years he attended and reported all republican national conventions, and in 1860, he was the only newspaper man who reported all the varied political conventions of that year.

New York, July 3.—Within the last ten days some 700 bogus passes have been presented at the box office of the New Amsterdam theater, where "The Merry Widow" is the attraction. Some of the people who have presented these passes and others made out on regular ticket envelopes of the theater say they have paid as high as $1.50 for the cards. They appear to have been sold by a young man who passes as a bill poster and wears a badge of the bill posters' union.

The craft entered include the Hawaii, built by popular subscription of the people of the islands and owned and sailed by the Hawaiian Yacht club; the Lurline, which represents Los Angeles; the Lady Maud, the San Diego entry; and the Gwendolyn II, which will defend the yachting honor of Seattle. GATHERING OF BISHOPS

THEY ARE ASSEMBLED FOR THE DECENNIAL LAMBETH CONFERENCE.

EIGHTY OF THEM FROM AMERICA

Archbishop of Canterbury, Primate of All England, Will Preside at the Protestant Episcopal Gathering.

London, July 3.—Gathered and apportioned bishops of the Anglican church from all corners of the earth—eighty of them from America—are assembled today to take part in the decennial Lambeth conference. In all, 250 bishops are here, many of whom took part in the Pan-Anglican conference, and will represent at the conference a Christian community of no less than 100,000,000 persons.

While the actual business of the conference will not be commenced until Monday, the distinguished churchmen will be received tomorrow at Canterbury. On Sunday there will be a celebration of holy communion at Westminster Abbey, the sermon to be preached by the Dean of Westminster.

England and Wales will be represented by thirty-seven bishops at the conference. Canada, Australia, India, South Africa, China and Japan have also sent nearly all their bishops. Among the delegates is Assistant Bishop Cluwell, a full blooded negro, who has many native clergymen under his jurisdiction in the jungles of the dark continent. The United States has by far the largest representation.

The conference will continue till August 5. Among the subjects slated for discussion are the relations of the church to modern thought, science, philosophy, democracy and social and economic questions. Religious education in schools, supply and training of clergy, foreign missions, reunion and intercommunion, prayer book adaptation, marriage problems, divorce, "race suicide," faith healing and Christian Science are other problems which will be considered.

It must be understood that while the decisions of the conference will carry great weight with churchmen the world over, they will have no binding effect on anybody. They will be simply expressions of opinion by the leaders of the church, which the various branches of the Anglican communion may or may not adopt, as they please. When the conference was inaugurated forty years ago the fear was expressed that in time to come the foreign and colonial churches might be able to outvote the mother church even on important points of doctrine and it was decided then that the decisions of the conference should be purely of a recommendatory nature.

The archbishop of Canterbury, the primate of all England and the spiritual head of the English church, will preside at this great gathering. The Protestant Episcopal church in America is, of course, independent and is democratically governed, the bishops being elected by their people, while in England they are appointed by the king, who is the nominal head of the church. The American bishops trace their ordination, however, to the Anglican church and the sentimental tie is very close.

The churches in Canada, Australia and many of the other colonies are also entirely independent of the mother church, and are governed by their own synods or metropolitans or archbishops, while in some of the smaller or newer colonies the bishops are directly under the control of the archdiocese of Canterbury.

Nursing Mothers and

Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless help to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary spots or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its makeup. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

ECZEMA IS NOW CURABLE.

A St. Louis chemist, after many years of careful experimenting and investigation, has discovered a simple remedy that has cured hundreds of cases of eczema that had been pronounced incurable. This chemist believed that eczema and all itching skin diseases were of local origin and were caused by germs which attacked and fed on the skin. He began to search for a remedy that would destroy these germs, and found that by combining the active principles of certain well known vegetable drugs, and applying them locally, the first application stopped the itching and burning, and if used persistently would drive all germs and their poisons to the surface of the skin and destroy them, leaving a nice, clear, healthy skin. He gave this remarkable remedy the suggestive name of Zemo, and since its introduction to the public Zemo has proved a very popular remedy and it today recognized the most successful and meritorious remedy ever produced for the relief and cure of eczema and all diseases of the skin and scalp.

Mr. Dan Wilcox, the druggist, endorses and recommends Zemo and says that he believes Zemo to be an honest medicine and will do all that is claimed for it.

NEGRO IS THE FAVORITE

THE BELIEF IS THAT JOE GANS WILL GET BEST OF BATTLING NELSON.

THE LATTER CONFIDENT, HOWEVER

Jack Welch Has Been Agreed Upon as the Referee for the Lightweight Championship Battle the Fourth.

San Francisco, July 3.—On the eve of the battle between Joe Gans and Battling Nelson for the world's lightweight championship honors, the negro is a decided favorite. Bookmakers predict that manly heavy wagers will be made before the men enter the ring tomorrow. Nelson and his friends are confident that he will win a victory over his old time foe, but this opinion is shared by only a small proportion of the sporting experts congregated in San Francisco today to witness the mill.

According to the articles of agreement, the battle will take place tomorrow afternoon at Croft's Mission street arena and is scheduled to go fifty-five rounds. The winner will receive 60 per cent and the loser 40 per cent of the 70 per cent of the gross proceeds which will go to the fighters. The men will weigh in at 133 pounds at the ringside stripped.

Jack Welch has been agreed upon as referee. A clause in the articles is to the effect that the referee must not put his hands on the men if they are in a clinch. They must step back at his command. This clause was inserted at the request of Nelson's representative, The Dane never clinches and this condition is thought to favor him. It was considered of so much importance by Ben Selig that he had a special conference with Gans before he agreed that it be made a part of the articles. Nelson does his most effective work at infighting, hence this is expected to be in his favor.

There is every indication that a recording breaking crowd will witness the exhibition, anxious to see settled the dispute which Nelson and his supporters have tried to keep up ever since the memorable battle at Goldfield on September 3, 1906.

There has never been any doubt in the minds of the fair ones as to the outcome of the struggle, for only the prejudiced gave any consideration to the ridiculous claims of Nelson that he had been robbed of a victory, but the Dane and his immediate followers has not missed a single opportunity to question the right of the negro to the lightweight championship title, and repeated challenges for another contest have been mingled with the numerous attempts to harm the fistful standing of the colored man.

Now it is all to be settled in the ring, and if the apparent form of the two men during the past year counts for anything, the Dane is in for a worse beating than he received at Goldfield, and a beating, too, that will leave no room for argument in future.

In no fight since he escaped a knockout or an adverse decision on points by deliberately losing to Joe Gans on a foul in the forty-second round in Nevada, has Nelson displayed his old time ability. Nelson has pulled off one or two fairly creditable performances, all things considered, but nevertheless, he gave in every appearance the impression that he wasn't the same battler, showing in many ways a waning of his qualities that once caused him to be hailed as the king of the lightweight lot.

Gans, on the other hand, has gone right along in the same old way so familiar to fans who have seen him for years the greatest fighting machine, big or little, the ring has never known. His failure to stop Unholz in a shorter time is not taken to mean the passing of his famous punch by those who know the remarkable ability of the Boer to stand punishment. That he is as fit as ever in all other departments there is not the slightest doubt, and the only conclusion possible in the coming contest is that Nelson is likely to discover for the first time in his life how it feels to be knocked out.

Often The Kidneys Are

Weakened by Overwork.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work. Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail free, also a pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. B. M. Shults, an Engineer on the Seaboard Air Line, Received Wounds That Resulted Fatally Soon Afterward.

Raleigh, N. C., July 3.—When playing "Peeping Tom" B. M. Shults, engineer on the Seaboard Air Line, received wounds which caused his death a few minutes later.

About midnight Miss Sallie Smith, aged 18 years, reported to her brother that a man had peeped at her through a window as she was disrobing.

Her brother got a pistol and watched the window. In a few minutes the "Peeping Tom" reappeared and her brother fired four times.

Shortly afterward Shults staggered into a roomhouse, bleeding from four wounds. He died refusing to make a statement.

Shults leaves a widow and several children at Roanoke, Va. The brother was acquitted by the coroner's jury.

Had 75 Children at Story Hour.

Seventy-five children were entertained at the "story hour" at the public library at 10 o'clock this morning by Miss Margaret McDaniels, first assistant librarian, who told them of Independence day, Old Glory, etc. This was the first meeting of the year, and the large attendance was highly gratifying to Miss Whittier, the librarian, and her assistants.

SON'S ACT BLINDS FATHER

Emmett Griswold Falls From Ladder and Glass Cuts Eyes.

Centralia, Mo., July 3.—As a result of a dare to his 4-year-old son, Emmett Griswold, a well to do farmer, living four miles from this place, lost the sight of one eye, and probably will become totally blind. Griswold was hanging a picture, standing on the top of a step-ladder.

The child was shaking the ladder, and his father angrily said: "Son, I dare you to make me fall."

The boy gave the ladder a violent push, sending father and picture to the floor. Griswold's right eye was cut by part of the glass of the broken picture. The other eye was also injured, and he probably will lose it.

WILL TEST COUNTY LID

FOLK ASKS HADLEY TO DETERMINE SITUATION THERE FOR GOOD AND ALL.

PROSECUTOR JOHNSON IS WILLING

Says He Hopes Assistant Attorney General Will Relieve Him of a Job That Is Not in the Least Pleasant.

Jefferson City, July 3.—The exact angle of the lid in St. Louis county is to be determined, perhaps for good and all, by Gov. Folk.

The governor has written a letter asking Attorney General Hadley to send Assistant John Kennish to Clayton to conduct the grand jury investigation of the liquor business in the county.

Kennish at present is out of the city, and just when he will get to Clayton is not known. He has had experience in this work in the county.

Excise Commissioner T. J. Mulvihill, who is here to confer with Gov. Folk, says a morning paper misquoted him when it made the statement for him that "a man who cannot read and write has no right to conduct a business."

"What I have said and still think," said Mr. Mulvihill, "is that a man who has a dramshop license should possess an educational qualification of some kind. In the cities there are many men conducting dramshops who not only have no educational qualifications, but who are to a large extent ignorant of the English language."

"I believe it would be a wise public policy to require an educational test of applicants for licenses to conduct saloons."

Mr. Mulvihill stated further that he had not intention whatever of preparing a law to be presented to the next legislature embodying his ideas of what should be required along educational lines.

When told Gov. Folk's ultimatum, Rowland L. Johnston, prosecuting attorney of St. Louis county, said:

"So long as Folk's police and militia have not arrived in St. Louis county to put the lid on Mr. Kennish will be as welcome as the flowers in May. I am very tired and much in need of a vacation and will not object to having some one else direct the grand jury's investigations."

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

WILLIAM HARTLINE, A MISSOURI PACIFIC ENGINEER, IS KILLED.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

William Hartline, 40 years old, 3032 Clark avenue, an engineer for the Missouri Pacific railroad, was instantly killed late Wednesday near Valley Park in a peculiar accident, says yesterday's St. Louis Times.

Hartline, accompanied by Conductor John Dowd, and a fireman, was taking a light engine from St. Louis to Omaha for the Omaha division. There were no cars attached.

Hartline was running about 30 miles an hour when a side rod broke on the side occupied by the engineer. It crashed through the floor of the cab, killing Hartline.

The body was brought to St. Louis and held for Hartline's mother, who lives in Pennsylvania. He was married, but estranged from his wife. Two children made their homes with him on Clark avenue.

THE CARTER PRELIMINARY

Other Arrests May Follow Hearing of Slayer of Bagby.

Huntsville, Mo., July 3.—Other arrests will likely follow the preliminary hearing of I. J. Carter, who shot and killed Thomas Bagby, jr., his sister's sweetheart, while the latter stood on the window to the girl's room last Saturday night.

Carter is morose and refused to talk about the tragedy except to say he is sorry it occurred.

The state contends that Carter did not fire the shot that killed Bagby through a window, as he says.

TWO PROMOTERS INDICTED
Two Sold Mexican Mining Stock—Other Was Publisher.

Chicago, July 3.—An investigation by postoffice inspectors of the affairs of the American-Mexican Mining and Developing company, a $2,000,000 corporation, with its principal offices in this city, resulted yesterday in indictments against W. A. Arms, promoter of the corporation, and Walter S. Dillon, employed as manager in Mexico.

company and subsidiary concerns are said by the federal authorities to be worthless. Investors, it is declared, have been in Chicago during the past few weeks, clamoring for a refund of their money. Complaints reached the postoffice inspectors, and the results of their inquiry were placed before a federal grand jury.

Arms and Dillon furnished bonds for their appearance for trial without service of warrants. The same grand jury returned an indictment against Raymond L. Bernier, a former Chicago stock broker and financial magazine promoter, who is now in custody of federal authorities in Los Angeles, Cal. Bernier is accused of appropriating funds placed in his hands by investors.

COULDN'T TWEED 3 WOMEN

FOR THIS REASON A BOY OF 17 IN MISSISSIPPI COMMITTED SUICIDE.

HE RESORTED TO UNIQUE METHODS

Takes Morphine "For Carrie," Laudanum "For Eva," and Bullet for Third—Drew Sketch of Shotgun for "Henrietta."

Hazelhurst, Miss., July 3.—Unable to decide which of three women he really wanted to marry, Eli Hood, 17 years old, a boarder at the farm house of Eli Graves, eight miles from Hazelhurst, decided that the best way out of his dilemma was to commit suicide in such a way that each of the women would know that he had killed himself for her.

For Miss Carrie Nelson, 18 years old, he swallowed sixty grains of morphine; for Mrs. Eva Spellman, 25, he drank four ounces of laudanum, and for Miss Henrietta McDonald, 16, he put the muzzle of a shotgun in his mouth and pulled the trigger with his toe.

Beside his dead body was found on a table a paper wrapper that contained the morphine. On it was scrawled "For Carrie."

The empty laudanum bottle stood on a slip of paper on which was written "For Eva," and an empty envelope on which a picture of a shotgun had been drawn was inscribed "For Henrietta."

Further than that he had been acting queerly, and that he had become despondent, Graves says he saw nothing in Hood's behavior that indicated that he contemplated self-destruction.

On one occasion Hood complained of his inability to get married, and when Graves jokingly referred to his three sweethearts he shook his head sadly and said that was where his trouble was.

"I can't make up my mind," he said.

Hood owned a small piece of property near here which prevented the necessity of his working for a living. A year ago his older brother committed suicide, and from him Hood inherited another small property.

No one of the young women would admit that Hood had paid her special attention, and none of them dreamed, each said, that Hood ever wanted to marry her or anyone else.

"If he was so much in love with us, he certainly concealed the fact well, and it is wonderful that he did not show any partiality," said Mrs. Spellman. "He never breathed a word of love to me."

HANDS SILVER DOLLAR

MR. MILLER, OF OHIO, WHO PAID A VISIT TO THE HON. W. J. BRYAN.

THE BUCKEYE WAS DEAD BROKE

The Nebraskan Reached Down Into His Pocket and Drew Forth a Dollar, Which He Gave to Impecunious Visitor.

Lincoln, Neb., July 3.—Mr. Bryan handed out a round silver dollar to a caller who bore on his person the marks of box car travel and lack of regular meals.

Miller, of Cleveland, was the name of the caller, and he declared he was a member of a reception committee in Cleveland at one time when the Nebraskan was entertained.

"I am broke, Mr. Bryan," he said, standing on the porch and looking beseechingly at the democratic candidate.

"Thought so," was the reply. "Will this help you out any?" said he, as he slipped $1 into the hand of the seedy looking individual.

When Miller reached the tent adjoining the Bryan mansion, where the newspaper correspondents stay he was feeling happier than has been his custom.
